About the cover

You can prolong the life of your pond without resorting to dredging or expensive chemical use. One of the simplest and most economic ways of doing this is to use aeration. Aeration is the process of adding dissolved oxygen to water. Maintaining healthy levels of dissolved oxygen in your pond aids in the breakdown of decaying vegetation and other sources of nutrients that enter your pond. Kasco Marine, Inc.'s new 1400JF, 1/4HP-floating fountain for smaller ponds and water gardens is shown on our cover. Photo taken at: Steve Hedberg's residence in Minnetonka, Minnesota.
